

BOOK "KALACHAKRA-TANTRA"

Translated by V.S. Dylykova-Parfionovich

The book "Kalachakra Tantra" is a new creation of the author's many years of work in translating and decoding the central treatise of Tibetan Buddhism of the same name.

Given the complexity of this text, the repeated incomplete attempts of many Western Tibetologists to make not just a translation, but precisely to decipher the hidden meanings of one of the most sacred texts of the Buddhist East, as well as the appearance in modern Oriental studies of such a large study of the central field of Buddhism and Tibetology in Russian - all this testifies not only to a certain significant phenomenon in the Russian humanities, but also to a new stage in modern Tibetology, which will be associated with the formation of synthesis of the humanities and natural sciences, with the collaboration of modern science and the accumulation of philosophy and culture of the East.
