Dear organizers and friends of the project!

As a member of the Russian Writers' Union, I express my sincere support and professional admiration for the White Jaguars project.

Your initiative is, in essence, the creation of new literature for the future in the digital age. It gives children a unique language—the language of images, creativity, and direct dialogue—to express their thoughts, feelings, and love for their homeland. The project nurtures not just authors, but creators with a broad view of the world, which is incredibly valuable.

As a writer, I am particularly fond of the project's idea of supporting gifted children whose works convey the ideals of goodness, mercy, and beauty. By strengthening intergenerational ties and intercultural dialogue, White Jaguars weaves the living fabric of our common cultural space.

I am confident that your project will take its rightful place in contemporary Russian culture. I wish it inspiration, talented participants, and a long creative life.

With respect
and creative solidarity,
Member of
the Russian Writers' Union
